Question:

Does CL&P intend to sell a portion of its assets created in the Connecticut portion of the Interstate Reliability Project to The United Illuminating Company, if the project is approved?

Response:

Yes. CL&P will sell a portion of these assets to UI under an agreement that CL&P and UI entered into in 2010 (Agreement). This agreement provides UI a right to invest in the Connecticut portion of the NEEWS projects (CT-NEEWS), including the Interstate Reliability Project. The Agreement was reviewed and approved by the CT DPUC (now PURA) and FERC. Since December of 2010, UI has been investing in CT-NEEWS in accordance with the provisions of the Agreement. As detailed in the Agreement, if the Interstate Reliability Project is approved and constructed, CL&P will transfer to UI certain assets of the project commensurate with UI's investment in the project at such time.
