SUBJECT: Certification Endorsement for School Marriage and Family Therapists

In accordance with Section 10-145d (h) of the Connecticut General Statutes, the State Board of Education adopted regulations for the certification of marriage and family therapists employed by local or regional boards of education. These regulations can be found in Sections 10-145d-566a through 566f, inclusive, of the Regulations of Connecticut State Agencies (Regulations), and were effective September 9, 2008. We have enclosed a copy of these regulations for your information. This letter is being sent to clarify the permissible responsibilities for therapists who hold this endorsement.

Requirement for the School Marriage and Family Therapist Endorsement:

Provision of services by the holder of the certificate for school marriage and family therapist will be determined by the school building administrator and in consultation with the planning and placement team, as defined in Section 10-76a-1 of the Regulations, or in accordance with alternative procedures and programs (e.g., student assistance team, child study team, etc.) before a child is referred to a planning and placement team, as described in Section 10-76d-7 of the Regulations.

The intention of the above paragraph is to identify the process used for a building administrator to determine the provision of services to a child by a holder of the school marriage and family therapist certificate. The school administrator consults with those individuals who are appropriate to serve on a planning and placement team as defined by Section 10-76a-1, such as a school psychologist or school guidance counselor, to aide in this determination. This determination about provision of services should occur before children are referred to a planning and placement team.

As provided under Section 10-145d-566b of the Regulations, this endorsement is required when anyone is serving in the employ of a board of education and not providing services under an external contract. Section 10-145d-566c of the Regulations provides for individual or small-group counseling services to students, families or parents/guardians in order to support the academic or behavioral functioning of the student. Such therapists are authorized to provide direct services to students and are not limited to providing services only to parents and guardians.

Supplanting of Services by School Social Workers, School Counselors or School Psychologists:

If your school board creates a position that is unique and specifically designed for the role of school marriage and family therapist, your human resource director and/or special education directors should ensure that such job description does not overlap or supplant services currently covered under those provided by school social workers, school counselors or school psychologists. Additionally, marriage and family therapists should not be hired into school social workers' or school guidance counselors' positions unless they hold appropriate certification in these areas as determined by the Department.

If you have questions regarding the certification requirements for this endorsement, feel free to contact Georgette Nemr, Bureau of Educator Standards and Certification, at 860-713-6716. If you have questions regarding the guidelines for differentiating roles between the school marriage and family therapist and other special service personnel, please contact Scott Newgass, Bureau of Health/Nutrition, Family Services and Adult Education, at 860-807-2044.
